Ban on DTH-TV Services

2295. SHRIMATI VEENA VERMA:

SHRI SUSHILKUMAR SAMBHAJIRAO SHINDE:

Will the Minister of INFORMATION AND BROADCASTING be pleased to state:

(a) whether Government has decided to ban Direct to home (DTH) TV services and declare all such services illegal;

(b) whether it is a fact that in the hope of getting proper licences as per Government's open-sky policy, a number of entrepreneurs and households had acquired the necessary infrastructure including KU band equipment for DTH services, and if so, the reasons for delay or denial in issuing licences; and

(c) whether as reported in the press on 17th July, 1997, a last minute hitch occurred in the issuance of the notification, if so, the details in this regard?

THE MINISTER OF INFORMATION AND BROADCASTING (SHRI S. JAIPAL REDDY): (a) The Government have introduced the Broadcasting Bill, 1997 in Lok Sabha on 16.5.97, which, interalia, provides for regulation and licensing of Direct-to-Home television services. The bill is currently under consideration of the Joint Parliamentary Committee. With a view to prevent pre-emption of the broadcasting law by foreign entities, as may be passed by the Parliament in this regard, Ministry of Communications, Department of Telecommunication have issued a notification dated 16.7.97 prohibiting establishment, maintenance, operation and possession of equipments capable of receiving signals above the frequency band of 4800 MHz.

(b) There is no such thing as yet, called Government's open sky policy. The proposed Broadcasting Bill, when implemented, will lay down the parameters for such a policy for the first time in our country. Government do not have information about entrepreneurs and households having acquired the necessary infrastructure. As per the notification dated 16-7-97 no one is permitted to procure KU band equipment for DTH services.

(c) No, Sir.
